LIFE INSURANCE CLAIMS

More than $14,000,000 was paid out to beneficiaries and to living policyholders by life insurance companies operating in Canada during the month of August.

The figures compiled by the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association and based on data of companies representing more than 95 per cent of the life insurance in force in Canada, were made public by Toronto recently.

Death and accidental claims reached a total of $5,723,259 paid to beneficiaries of 1,700 ordinary life policies, 1,848 industrial policies and 548 group policies. The sum of $2,301,221 was paid in matured endowments of 1,243 ordinary policies and 2,735 industrial policies.

Disability benefits amounted to $279,822; annuity payments $452,123, and surrender values $3,036,382. Dividends to policyholders reached the total of $2,355,386.

MINER FOUND DEAD NEAR COKE OVENS

An inquiry into the death of Michael Beniski, whose lifeless body was found on the coal company property in the vicinity of the untagged coke ovens Saturday morning, showed that he died from natural causes. The inquiry was held at the local office of the BC police Tuesday afternoon.

The late Mr. Beniski was 68 years of age, of Slovakian birth, and a naturalized Canadian. He had lived in Canada for 49 years, most of that time in Fernie, being employed as a miner at Elk River Colliery. He is survived by his wife and one son, of Fernie, and two daughters.

He was a quiet and unassuming man and well thought of by Fernie citizens in general.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning with high requiem mass at Holy Family Church and interment was made in St. Margaret's cemetery.

Mrs. J. Krokosky, Jr., of Blairmore, is sister of the deceased, and along with members of her family attended the funeral in Fernie on Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Joseph Kubie is another sister, residing in Blairmore, whose daughter, Miss Anne Kubie, attended the last rites.

A GLOBAL ICE-BOX

Rear Admiral R. Byrd, recently returned from his latest expedition to the South Pole, stated that he believed the Antarctic Continent should be internationally administered "for the benefit of humanity."

He said the area could be as important from a meteorological standpoint as the Arctic now is. The map of Antarctica would have to be entirely redrawn because of the discoveries made in this latest expedition.

He repeated his suggestion that the South Polar region could become a cold storage "plant" for the world, where surplus foods could be kept indefinitely against future emergency.

"I ate meat and butter I left there fourteen years ago and it was perfectly all right," he said. "We brought some back to test for possible loss of calorie value."

Airplanes left there five years ago and dug out of the snow were flown with little repair or adjustment. There was no rust.

The white-haired explorer was bronzed from exposure to the Antarctic "summer" during which temperatures went as low as about forty degrees below zero.

His assistant said the South Pole region might be useful for testing cold weather operations and equipment.

Byrd said the expedition explored 1,700,000 square miles of territory, much of it never before seen by man. The explorers flew 75,000 miles, took 70,000 photographs for mapping, discovered new mountains, lakes and islands.

"No, ma'am. This is the Blairmore Hardware store."

ALL VETERANS BENEFIT BY POPPY SALES

(by Douglas W. Smith)

Very shortly November 11th will be here again and with it millions of Canadian citizens will be wearing blood-red poppies in remembrance of the one hundred thousand heroes who gave their lives for Canada in two world wars.

Entrusted with the sale of these poppies and wreaths made by disabled veterans at Veterans' shops in Montreal and Toronto, the Canadian Legion will have thousands of volunteer workers on the streets soliciting sales. In 1946 these workers sold more than 4,500,000 poppies and this year the total is expected to be increased.

The monies received from the sales of the poppies and wreaths is used solely to take care of indigent veterans, widows and orphans of deceased veterans. No profit whatsoever is kept aside for any other phase of Legion work. All veterans benefit by the sales whether they are Legion members or not.

In 1946 the Legion Dominion Service Bureau obtained $346,710.24 in retroactive pensions alone, representing 1181 "lost cases" that had in the majority applied to the government for a pension and had been turned down. Exceeding last year's figures the Bureau, to the end of September this year, has obtained $292,067.48 in retroactive pensions for 1152 applicants. When figured in a sum total for the rest of the applicants' lives this will run into millions of dollars.

All this means that the municipalities will be relieved in no small measure from the burden of looking after distress cases, and the federal government unburdened with additional relief agencies throughout the country.

In Toronto and Montreal the poppies are turned out in their millions by older veterans who are physically unable to earn a living in the commercial world. For them it is a year-round occupation paying them a living wage.

In addition to the practical side of buying and selling poppies the Legion does not forget the main thought behind the poppy which is the symbol of remembrance for Canada's dead heroes.

The origin of the poppy is extremely

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

An important United Kingdom drug, which may rank among the world's great medical discoveries, has been announced by the Medical Research Council of Britain. This drug is known as BAL—British Anti Lewisite. Its appearance means that arsenic can at last be fully exploited as a drug. Doctors have known for many years that arsenic kills some germs more efficiently than does any other substance.

They knew it was of great value in treating chronic skin complaints and nervous diseases. But the use of arsenic has been limited by its own terrible effects on human tissues. The arrival of BAL means that these effects can be quickly overcome and often prevented. The Medical Research Council recently reported encouraging successes in 31 of 44 cases of arsenic poisoning in which BAL treatment was applied.

FIT FOR FUN

A seasonal warning is issued from Ottawa on medical check-ups to ensure fitness for fun. Since many young people will be taking up sports and engaging in vigorous recreation programs, with return to classes in the Fall, the medical authorities urge patients, teachers and directors of athletics to insist on physical examinations before they allow the young people to exert themselves. This, it is pointed out, will ensure that there are no hidden factors which would make strenuous play inadvisable.

ly fascinating. In Rome mythology the red poppy was the symbol of death dedicated to Somnus, the god of sleep. For centuries the red poppy, which grows wild in Europe, has been associated with the battlefields of Europe, especially Flanders, where it grows abundantly in the wheat and uncultivated fields.

Poppies grow profusely on the battlefields of this territory and superstitious people believed the red flowers came from the blood of the slain. Throughout the centuries writers referred to the profusion of poppies that sprang up on the battlefields of Ramillies, Landen, Fontenoy and Waterloo.

In 1693 the French under Marshal Luxembourg defeated the Anglo-Dutch under William III at Landen. Macaulay in his history of England wrote of this battle:

"During many months the ground was strewn with skulls and bones of men and horses, with fragments of hats and shoes, saddles and holsters. The next summer the soil, fertilized by twenty thousand corpses, broke forth into millions of poppies. The traveller, who, on the road from Saint Tron to Trillemont, saw that vast sheet of scarlet spreading from Landen to Nierwinden, could hardly help fancying that the figurative prediction of the Hebrew prophet was literally accomplished, and that the earth was disclosing her blood, and refusing to cover her slain."

The association of the red poppy with the battlefields of the First World War was largely the result of the popular poem by Colonel John McRae, Canadian physician, soldier and poet, who died of pneumonia in France in 1918. His poem, "In Flanders Fields" was pencilled on a page torn from a dispatch book by Colonel McRae during a lull in the 16 days of fighting at the Second Battle of Ypres.

The poet submitted it anonymously to "Punch" and the editor, recognizing the beauty and originality of the poem, printed it in a heavily leaded type. The original manuscript is owned by the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal, where the author had practised medicine.

FRED AND ROLAND HARPER AWARDED SCHOOL HONORS

Mrs. F. M. Pinkney has just received word that her grandsons have distinguished themselves at university and high school.

Frederick ("Ricky") Harper, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Harper, formerly of Blairmore, has won the Lt. Governor's gold medal for the highest standing in the work of the second year at the University of Manitoba. He also won the Ashdown award ($100) for general proficiency.

Roland ("Buddy") Harper won a cash prize of $150 for the highest marks in Grade XII. He is now taking first year university at Manitoba College.

These boys received their elementary training in the local school.

Mrs. Pinkney should be justly proud of their excellent academic records.

STOOPEO SHOULDERS

Days are gone, health authorities declare, when men of learning may be distinguished by "stooped shoulders" as much as by signs of absent-mindedness. Today's intellectuals, we are told, are outstanding men and women, who haven't let their book-learning "get them down."

At study or at work, Canadians should bend only their minds to the task at hand, say the health experts. It is important to maintenance of health to assume and retain proper posture, whether standing or sitting.

Director-in-Chief

James Gordon Teggart has been appointed Director-in-Chief, Agricultural Services, Dominion Department of Agriculture, highest post in the Dominion Civil Service ever to be filled by open competitive examination. Born on a Nova Scotia farm, educated in Ontario, first Superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Saskatchewan, and former Saskatchewan Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Teggart is regarded as one of the best informed Canadian agricultural leaders. His chairmanship of the Meat Board and service as Foods Administrator were recognized by the award of C.B.E. in 1946. Since the formation of the Agricultural Press Support Board, almost two years ago, he has been its Chairman.

SUMMARY STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS IN CANADA SEPTEMBER OF 1947

During September, 1947, there was a sharp increase in strike activity in Canada as compared with the previous month, but the resulting time loss was substantially below that recorded in September, 1946. It was shown by the monthly summary of strikes and lockouts issued today by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor.

The strike of meat packing plant workers, which commenced on August 27, 1947, and has extended across Canada, was responsible for about 61 per cent of the workers involved in all strikes and more than 72 per cent of the total time loss during September.

Preliminary figures for September, 1947, show 41 strikes and lockouts in existence, involving 19,879 workers, with a time loss of 276,859 man-working days, as compared with 36 strikes in August, 1947, with 7,184 workers involved and a time loss of 52,314 days. In September, 1946, there were 37 strikes, involving 33,451 workers, with a time loss of 657,714 days.

Of the 41 strikes in existence during September, 16 were in existence previous to the beginning of the month. Of these 16, seven were terminated by the end of September, while 16 of the 25 which began during September were ended by October 1st. Thus there were 18 strikes still in effect at the beginning of October.

For the first nine months of 1947 preliminary figures show a total of 171 strikes, involving 58,025 workers, with a time loss of 1,855,462 man-working days. For the same period last year there were 198 strikes, with 129,453 workers involved and a time loss of 4,067,064 days.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Veitch is confined to her bed through illness this week.

Billie Lagarde and Harold King are on a big-game hunting trip. They will be about four days reaching their hunting grounds, making the last lap of the journey, by pack train deep into the mountains, ranging close to the Banff district.

Rev. R. G. Thompson, of Edmonton, addressed the pupils at the Cowley school Friday afternoon, October 24th, on the evil effects of alcohol on the system and in the evening of the same day Mr. Thompson held a public meeting in the Masonic Hall when he delivered a temperance lecture followed by talking pictures, "Where Does It Get You?" and "That Boy Joe." The meeting was well attended.

The general auction sale of farm machinery, engines, tractors, combine, live stock, household effects, etc., of Wilfred Fortier which took place at his ranch, Monday, October 27, was hampered off to the tune of high bidding. All of a thousand people attended the sale. Refreshments were served by the Ladies of St. Joseph's Altar Society.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS

OTTAWA, October 28th, 1947.—In announcing sales of the Second Series of Canada Savings Bonds to date Bank of Canada officials drew attention to the fact that the average individual purchase so far had been substantially above forecasts. Payroll Savings applications averaged $195.70 to date compared with a final figure of $183.72 for the First Series, which was issued last fall. The combined average purchase of Series Two, so far, came to $539.13 as against a final average of $409.76 last year despite the reduction to $1,000 of holdings in any one name.

Total sales of the Second Series of Canada Savings Bonds up to October 24th notched the hundred million dollar mark with reported totals of $100,562,700 from 341,532 applications. Sales under the Payroll Savings Plan showed no signs of slackening, and accounted for nearly half the dollar amount for a figure of $48,319,550, for more than two thirds the number of applications at 246,911. Substantial portions of Payroll Savings Plan sales were represented by purchases of $614,900 by the Armed Forces, $3,334,800 by the Civil Service, and $6,058,500 by railway employees.

Comparison of returns from the sale of Series Two Canada Saving Bonds with sales of Series One on the same day of the campaign last October as revealed in the following table shows continuing rapid progress in Payroll Savings Sales.

	Proll Sav's	Proll Sav's Combined
Sales	App'l's	Sales
1946 37,702,350	224,078	160,821,850
1947 48,319,550	246,911	100,562,700
Combined	Payroll	Combined
App'l's	Average	Average
1946 392,478	183.72*	409.76*
1947 341,532	195.70	539.13

Investment dealers, banks and other savings institutions also report a steady increase by the general public, and forecast that sales in substantial volume may extend over a longer period than in the initial offering last October.

DISABLED MOUTHS

In the first year of World War II, no fewer than 23 per cent of Canada's volunteers were found unfit for service because of bad teeth and diseased gums.

Commenting on this startling statistic, a National Health authority on dental health declared, "Although young men, these chaps had mouths which were old and crippled by decay and pyorrhea. Dental care is essential to fitness. The Young Canadian, in fact every Canadian, should see the dentist at least twice a year to ensure oral health."

A Commendable Undertaking

IN THE CONSIDERATION OF present world problems, and the many means by which it is hoped that peace may be preserved, perhaps too little attention is paid to the important part which education can play in this regard. Education is not a quick road to the solution of any problem and it is apparent that many of the present difficulties are urgent and have little connection with the slow process of learning. It should not be overlooked, however, that one avenue to lasting peace lies in building up tolerance, and understanding of world problems in the minds of the boys and girls who are now growing up.

Race Hatreds Engender War

Race hatreds and group prejudices always have their place in engendering a war, and any efforts which may be made to break down these barriers in the minds of young people are to be commended. A recent item from Great Britain tells how school children from all parts of that country met regally to learn about the problems which are now facing the world. Special emphasis was laid on the difficulties which people of other lands are trying to overcome. A seven-day course on international affairs was planned for them by the Council of Education, in World Citizenship, a non-political body upon which there are representatives of professional teachers' associations, youth organizations, and educational authorities.

British People Are Tolerant

Those children who attended the course voluntarily gave up one week of their school holidays to these studies. It may be questioned as to whether there is a great need for British children to be taught principles of tolerance and goodwill to people of other nations, for Britain has been as free as any country in the world of exaggerated forms of intolerance or prejudice. The fact that such undertakings are encouraged, however, shows that even there the need for promoting international goodwill and understanding is recognized by groups such as the one which organized this gathering. Certainly nothing can be lost by fostering the broadest possible outlook among the children who are growing up today, and such efforts should be commended and encouraged wherever they may be made.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

The five-year-old kept fidgeting at the grownups' afternoon social. At last she turned to the young lady beside her, extending a small hand.

"Here's your nickel, mummy," she said. "I'd rather talk."

First shopper: "It's tough to pay 50c for a pound of meat."

Second shopper: "Yes, but it's even tougher when you pay 25c."

"So your husband's in the army, Mrs. Worrell?"

"Yes, they've made him a gunner, and that's what he's been ever since I married him."

"Always been a gunner?"

"Yes. Ever since I knew him he's been 'gunner' do this and that, but he's never did anything worth while."

Mrs. Brown (displaying new lampshade): "Isn't it perfectly lovely? And it only cost $9.98!"

Brown: "If you wear that to church tomorrow, you go alone!"

"I've no money on me," said the man to the bully who had waylaid him in the dark lane. "And my watch has only a sentimental value."

"Hand it over," said the tough. "I feel like a good cry, anyway."

"I hear your new lodger is a very impetuous fellow. Does everything in the heat of the moment."

"Yes, it's his job. He's a blacksmith."

A wealthy woman asked an assistant in a shop for instructions on how to make a dog's jacket.

"How big is the dog?" asked the sales girl; but the woman's illustrations were not very helpful.

"Perhaps you'd better bring the dog in," suggested the girl.

"Oh, I can't do that! It's to be a surprise for him!"

A celebrated vocalist was in a motorcar accident one day. A paper after recording the accident, added: "We are happy to state that he was able to appear the following evening in three pieces."

"Tommy," said the teacher, "can you quote a famous American proverb?" After a moment's desperate thought, Tommy smiled. "Yes, Sir," he said brightly. "The darkey's hour is just before the dawn."

She: "Here's a story of a man out west who bartered his wife for a horse. You wouldn't swap me for a horse, would you darling?"

He: "Of course not (pause), but I'd hate to have anyone tempt me with a good motor car."

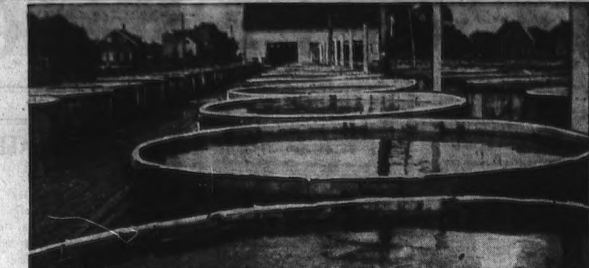

"Senator, you promised me a job."

"But there are no jobs open."

"Well, you said you'd give me one."

"Tell you what I'll do. I'll appoint a commission to investigate why there are no jobs, and you can work on that."

NEW INDUSTRY—The cucumber crop in Prince Edward Island has been outstanding this year. In many districts they were grown by the acre. Mathew-Wells, well-known pickling firm in Charlottetown, has started a new industry with these cucumbers. Farmers from all over the island bring their crop of cucumbers into Mathew-Wells. The company pays the farmers as high as seven cents a pound for the very small ones. From Charlottetown the warty little vegetables are shipped to the firm's processing and packing headquarters at Guelph, Ontario. First, however, they are separated according to size, and then dumped into one of the company's two hundred five-ton vats filled with brine. Here they are cured and soon are ready for shipment. A new industry has been born in Canada's smallest province. Open air vats receive the crop of cucumbers as they come from the fields; after curing in brine they are shipped for processing to Guelph, Ont.

HOG POPULATION SHOW GAINS IN WESTERN PROVINCES

Prairie farmers have not rushed back into the hog business at such a rate as their eastern competitors, although every western province shows gains in the hog population, ranging from 2.6 per cent. in Alberta to 12.7 per cent. in Manitoba, according to figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Total hog population of Canada at June 1 numbered 5,473,200, up from 4,910,200 a year earlier. Nova Scotia, with increase of 23.5 per cent. and Quebec and Ontario with 23.3 and 11.5 per cent. respectively, were far ahead of the western provinces.

Part of this exaggerated rise in the eastern provinces is no doubt due to the federal feed subsidy which gives a price preference to eastern livestock growers. Shortage of feed throughout the country this season will probably cut the fall pig crop in spite of the subsidy. The bureau estimates that the increase over last year's fall crop will be less than 5.0 per cent. indicated at June 1. The spring pig crop, by contrast, war up 10.5 per cent. over the spring of 1946. Marketing of a considerable number of sows recently gives weight to this estimate.

BURLINGAME, Calif.—There were 200,000 tickets in the big revolving barrel.

Mrs. Hugh S. Simonds, wife of the mayor, was chosen to pick from among them the winner of the grand prize — a washing machine — at the fall show of the Burlingame stores.

The first name drawn was Miss Marjorie Volkmar, 15 Park road, she was absent.

An alternative was drawn: Miss Peg Volkmar, 15 Park road. She was absent.

Mrs. Simonds tried again. The name, Miss Marjorie Volkmar, 15 Park road.

Officials thereupon decreed the washing machine was Marjorie's.

LITTLE REGGIE

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

THE FIRST ACT OF DIGESTION

It is necessary to masticate every piece of food in order to have good teeth and to assure an adequate digestion. Mastication cuts, crushes and mills everything we eat and so it is the first act of digestion. That is the reason why children must be taught to eat slowly. They must never swallow food without thoroughly chewing it.

Needless to say that, on this item as on many others, parents must provide a good example to all members of the household.

However, in order that mastication be rightly practiced, particular attention must be given to dental hygiene. The dentist should be seen at least twice a year so as to keep a serious watch on the teeth. The smallest touch of dental decay should be immediately treated. Every child and adult should have their own tooth-brush and use it at least once a day.

Parents should insist that their children brush their teeth after each meal whenever possible.

UNABLE TO MOVE, DIES ON TRACK

The engineer of approaching freight train blew the whistle and brakes were applied for an emergency stop. Mrs. Johnstone, apparently paralyzed, "froze" in the centre of the tracks. Surviving are her husband and four children.

Many People Ignore Great Fire Hazards

The Farmer's Advocate says: In spite of all warnings and examples of loss of life and property by fire, people will allow rubbish to accumulate and become a fire hazard. They will use kerosene or gasoline in starting fires; they will heat paraffin wax over a direct fire; they will neglect to clean the stove pipes; they will keep matches loose in their pocket and some will even smoke in bed or on the couch. If inclined to take a chance a reminder of some fire tragedy posted in a prominent place might be a deterrent to carelessness or thoughtlessness.

New Bentonite Deposits Found In Manitoba

Surveyors Report Area South Of Thompson With Possible Commercial Value

A Manitoba Mines Branch Geological field party reports that a new deposit of bentonite of possible commercial importance has been found in the area south of Thompson. The component beds can be seen in a fresh cut on the road allowance between sections 20 and 21, township 2, range 6, west of the principal meridian; approximately three-quarters of a mile south of the northeast corner of section 20. The distance from the deposit to the nearest railway station, Thornhill, is five miles. The bentonite beds are correlated with the beds presently being mined north of Thompson and are the thick bentonites of the Pembina member of the Vermilion River formation.

The bentonite beds appear to be as thick as those measured at other localities but the intervening shale beds may be slightly thicker. The deposit lies in a broad valley and is covered by 20 feet, more or less, of overburden which is composed mainly of weathered shale or clay. The elevation of the bentonite beds is slightly less than 1,300 feet above mean sea level.

"UM-M-M! WHAT A FLAVOR-LIFT"

Canada's Fastest Growing Province

The Montreal Gazette says: The most striking record of development in the statistics is that of British Columbia. In proportion to its population it is growing at a rate far above that of any other province in the Dominion, including the province of Quebec. In fact, to equal British Columbia's relative rate of increase, Quebec's would have to be more than doubled.

IRRIGATION OF WESTERN CANADA

By Doris Moore

Each spring when the farmer plants his crop he immediately starts wondering: hoping, speculating, yes—gambling. Will the rains come? That is his primary thought. In fact, as soon as the last poor crop—or good crop, whichever happened to come along that year, is harvested, the turmoil begins all over again. Will the rains come?

"Next year we are certain to have a good crop; it had to rain sometime," says the farmer. All through the winter the dread thought prevails, in spite of forced optimism. The dread thought, "Will the rains come," passes back and forth through the mind of not only the farmer but his wife, his son hoping to get married once the "land is earning," and the daughter who is longing to get off to college to fulfil her long-spent dreams.

At the harvest supper after the crop has been harvested, the men and their families play ball with the idea of a better crop next year.

Each spring when the farmer plants his crop he immediately starts wondering: hoping, speculating, yes—gambling. Will the rains come? That is his primary thought. In fact, as soon as the last poor crop—or good crop, whichever happened to come along that year, is harvested, the turmoil begins all over again. Will the rains come?

At the harvest supper after the crop has been harvested, the men and their families play ball with the idea of a better crop next year.

weather 50 to 70 degrees below zero at some stages of its construction. But, instead, where is the water going from this large river system? It is dumping its billions of gallons of water into the Arctic Ocean each year. "Will the rains come?" we hear the gambling farmer say. Can the farmers rest any longer and allow the water to escape to the sea, instead of arranging to have ditches and canals dug to divert its flow to the thirsty plains?

Go further. Take the longest river of Central Southern Canada, the Saskatchewan River. Here we have approximately 2,500 miles of river water rushing into Lake Winnipeg. And, not one drop of water in the Mackenzie and Saskatchewan River systems is internationally owned. Canada has exclusive rights to all of it!

Young people and older people of Western Canada, get your irrigation societies formed, and you will find that your Government will be behind you. Start a campaign, and show that you want water. Many people say that the Government should initiate the great, tremendous irrigation project, which will cost millions of dollars. True! But have you asked the Government to do it? Have you laid out a great comprehensive plan before them on paper? No. Most farmers are afraid to mention irrigation, talk irrigation, or think irrigation. They think it is like asking for the moon. Rather, it is like asking for cream for your porridge when the cream is sitting over on the buffet waiting to be used—waiting to be reached for.

Here is what happened in a desert years ago. We can safely call any land in Canada a desert that during certain periods does not have sufficient rainfall to produce gardens or feed for the livestock.

In the San Joaquin Valley in Central California (yes, California), the farmer plants his wheat each year. He knows that, as surely as the sun is going to rise in the East, he will get from 50 to 60 bushels to the acre. The grape producer also knows that he will have bountiful crops; the cotton rancher also knows that the bales will be consistent, and everyone can forecast ahead his approximate income.

This could have been different. This land at one time was a desert. Here is the story as recorded by the "Sun-Maid" Raisin Company, Fresno, California, largest dried fruit packing plant in the world, covering 25 acres:

"The California forty-shiners hold gold in the Sierra foothills above the San Joaquin Valley. Five years before General Fremont rode east from Monterey to learn what lay in the great valley beyond the coast range. He found his trip in summer and found a hot sun and flat, dry plains. Except for a few poverty-stricken tribes of Indians along the banks of the San Joaquin and Kings Rivers, the country was uninhabited. A few antelope and wild horses migrated through the valley following the sparse pasture. There were wild pigs and wild chickens. Anything that escaped from the coast missions and pueblos into the valley was let go. No one would follow it into these 'bad lands.' Fremont recorded the San Joaquin as a 'barren and worthless waste'."

By 1890 the gold above the valley was exhausted and the prospectors were forced to turn to other means of livelihood. Some chose agriculture and, with the optimism of the time, went down into this barren valley floor which was still believed to be as unproductive as any parcel of land on earth.

Their first need was water. At the outset, the farmers were opposed by cattlemen who had taken up huge tracts of territory. They didn't want the range divided or fenced and every possible obstacle was thrown in the way of the settlers. It was only by a prolonged struggle that the beginnings of our great, modern irrigation systems were formed."

Now, states the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce brief, dated 1946, "The 1940 United States Census

WINNERS OF CONTESTS—The winners have been announced of a recent series of contests sponsored by The Wilson Fly Pad Company of Hamilton, Ontario. Winner of the First Prize of $100 in the first of the contests was Steve Yaremko, a schoolboy residing in Tangent, Alberta. Steve lives on a farm near the school he attends, and his favourite school subject is arithmetic. He considered using part of his prize winnings to buy a bicycle, but on second thought, he has put the money in the bank for the day when he may really need it.

Winner of the First Prize of $100 in the second contest was Mrs. Laura McKale of Calumet RRI, Quebec. Mrs. McKale is a farmer's wife and the mother of 12 children, six boys and six girls. Aside from looking after her large family, Mrs. McKale finds time to do crocheting, embroidery, knitting and sewing. Mrs. McKale claims she has been using Wilson's Fly Pad for 30 years and will not be without them.

What Price Conviction?

(By Joseph Lister Rutledge)

There are times when we wonder whether serious convictions go as deep as they did a generation or two ago. Another age wore its heart somewhat more openly on its sleeve and accepted the public announcement of a conviction as the best evidence of its validity. Note then one small bit of evidence in defence of the undervalued conviction.

During the war years when everyone was buying bonds in a surge of patriotic fervor and getting their safe and reasonable three per cent, some Canadians purchased to the inconsiderable total of more than 10 millions of dollars, on which they refused any interest, thus over a five year period doing without $1,400,000 that was rightfully theirs. They did this because, in their religious or patriotic view, they did not think it right to make money out of war that brought so much suffering to a world. We may not agree with them. But, in the face of the ultra-practical to whom such an attitude is just plain boobyism, we would like to say that, while disagreeing, we can still admire convictions that are worth more than three per cent.

NUMBER OF WORKERS

IN THE BUSH

AT HIGH LEVEL

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, announced today since Aug. 15, 25 per cent more men were at work in the forest areas of Canada than during the same period in 1946, a record year for the numbers employed in woods operations.

The Minister pointed out, however, that in spite of the marked rise in the numbers of woodworkers employed in the past eight weeks, there were still 18,500 openings registered with the National Employment Service for such workers throughout Canada.

The Minister anticipated that, as the season advanced and summer fanning operations were completed, this labor shortage would show a marked reduction and that no general acute shortage of woods labor would develop during the 1947-48 cutting season, since the overall woods-labor supply was being greatly supplemented by workers from the Displaced Persons Camps in Germany. Up to the present time, 3,005 Displaced Persons have arrived in Canada and are already working in Ontario woods and about 1,500 more are expected to arrive before the end of 1947.

The most serious shortage of woods labor is now being experienced in the Lakehead area of Ontario where new pulp and paper mills have come into operation. About 5,000 workers are employed at the present time in the Port Arthur and Fort Frances areas, and another 10,000 are needed.

However, more than 13,000 workers from the Prairies entered woodwork in this region last winter, and it was expected that when the summer fanning activities were concluded in the Western provinces, the flow of workers east coupled with local recruitment would bring the supply equal to demand, the Minister said.

DECLARING A CANARY

Probably the highest flying canary on record was "Ernie," Field-Marshal Lord Montgomery's canary, which arrived at London by air with its master recently. At the airfield the Customs man asked, "Anything to declare sir?" and Viscount Montgomery replied, "Only one canary." Ernie was taken to the waiting car. No doubt Monty felt he had better "declare" Ernie before Ernie declared himself, for he is a vocal little chap!

PLAN ALL-CANADIAN SCOUT JAMBOREE

An all-Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree will be held near Ottawa in the summer of 1949, it was decided by the Dominion Executive Committee of the Boy Scout Council meeting in Winnipeg.

Open to First Class and King Scouts it is expected the event, the first of its kind in Canadian Scouting history, will see some 3,000 Scouts, representative of every province in the Dominion, camped together for one week.

EMPLOYERS SPEAK HIGHLY OF NEW DOMESTIC WORKERS

In announcing the distribution throughout Canada of the 416 domestic workers who have already arrived here from the Displaced Persons Camps of Germany, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, stated today that reports on the suitability of these women as employees have been most favorable.

The Minister said that those to whom these new Canadians have been assigned speak highly of their willingness, adaptability and general attitude towards their new positions, although there have been some obstacles to overcome arising out of language difficulties and inexperience in certain aspects of their work.

Of the first 416 domestic workers who have arrived, 383 have been assigned to positions in institutions in urgent need of more help. Only 31 have been assigned to homes.

Distribution to institutions by provinces has been as follows: Manitoba, 190; Ontario, 108; Quebec, 65; Alberta, 10; New Brunswick, 7; and Prince Edward Island, 3.

The numbers of institutions which have been assisted by these new workers in each province are as follows: P. E. I., one; New Brunswick, three; Quebec, six; Ontario, 17; Manitoba, 11; and Alberta, one.

WHY DEMOCRACY?

"Pull Together Canada" Press Service
The word democracy has suffered much discredit from two causes.

First, it has been misused and twisted by extremists of right and left who have made it by turns a butt for their gibes and a cloak for their totalitarian aims.

Second, it has sometimes stood for nothing much except inefficiency because we, who inherited the benefits of democracy, have failed to live in a way that makes democracy possible.

For democracy in its true sense can only be made up of those who deliberately prefer the good of the whole to their own selfishness. Its essence is not the wide sharing of privileges but the wide sharing of responsibility.

The strength of democracy is the strength of human character. But the evidence of history teaches that even at its best human character is not enough.

And so today we must look beyond the purely human conception of democracy to the further vision of an inspired democracy in which every individual not only contributes his own best but is also instructed and guided by God Himself.

Inspired democracy will not come about by the action of a few leaders appealing to the self-interest of the masses, playing down to human nature instead of pointing men to their true destiny. It can and will come to the leaders and to the millions of ordinary people and families through the new quality of life and the new teamwork which God gives to those who listen to Him and obey Him.

In an inspired democracy every individual enjoys to the full the "perfect freedom" of obedience to the still, small voice of God—freedom to realize his highest ideals and the best that is in him.

In an inspired democracy every individual, whatever his background or brain power, has an equal chance of playing a decisive part.

For everyone can listen to God, And everyone whose heart is willing can be used by God and now in the remaking of the world.

LEARN TO RELAX

Nothing worthwhile is accomplished without effort, which means, in many cases, tension of mind as well as of body. Young people returning to schools and colleges at this time of year are reminded that, by health leaders, who ask students to bear in mind that they need adequate sleep and relaxation if their minds are to be fit for classroom work, as well as equipped for the tasks which lie ahead.

Nature's antidotes to fatigue are rest, sleep and relaxation, the medicals remind Canadians. They are essential in relieving the strain of sustained effort.

MISLEADING HANDS

There was something queer about a clock on top of an old tower in one of New York City's exclusive residential districts. The hands of the clock would move in the strangest fashion, having no relation to the time of day, and they would keep the same position for hours. At last the police concluded that the clock-face was a signal for wrong-doers, raided the place, and in a garage belonging to the building they discovered no fewer than thirty-one illicit liquor stills!

When you buy a poppy from the Canadian Legion, don't feel charitable—feel proud. And wear the poppy proudly. It's your proof that you have not forgotten those who gave so much and expect so little. They did their part. Do yours by buying a poppy.

CLOAKROOM SANITATION

The danger of spread of disease in untidy and unsanitary locker rooms and at piled clock-racks, is noted by Canadian health officers.

It is suggested that school staffs should train pupils to be tidy in the cloakroom as well as in class. Anterooms should be airy and well laid out, so that, where possible, separate lockers or cupboards may be allotted to individual pupils. The old-fashioned cloakroom, where clothing was piled up or thrown about in a gloomy chamber, is frowned upon by the health people.

DIPHTHERIA QUARANTINE IS LIFTED IN JAMES BAY AREA—An outbreak of diphtheria at Moose Factory, Ont., resulted in quarantine, but did not stop U.S. and Canadian hunters from arriving in droves for moose hunting. The quarantine has been lifted. Government physician for eight years at Moose Factory, Dr. T. J. Orford, shown here with wife and children, Judi, nine, and Elizabeth, six, left two days before quarantine, but offered to return if needed to help battle dread outbreak which is abating now.

CHRISTENS NEW SHIP AT ESQUIMALT — Mrs. Lionel Chevier, wife of Canada's minister of transport, christens the C.N. steamship Prince George, first passenger ship built in Canada in 25 years, at Esquimalt.

RECEIVES MEDAL—A well deserved honor came to a little known public official when Dr. C. A. Mitchell, Dominion Animal Pathologist, (left), received the Medal of Freedom from the United States at the hands of Hon. Ray Atherton, (right), recently at Ottawa. The citation mentions that Dr. Mitchell rendered outstanding meritorious service of the joint U.S. Canadian commission from 1942 to 1946. The Medal of Freedom is a U.S. decoration which ranks with their Legion of Merit, but is given only to civilians.

SHE'S NOT SUPERSTITIOUS—Black cats are jail friends of Patricia Schmidt in her cell in Cuba. She is on trial for fatal shooting of John Lester Mee, Chicago, bit dubious about the whole thing, but "Little Joe" soon aboard his yacht at Havana, Cuba.

MAKING FRIENDS—THE EASY WAY—Patricia Schmidt, 15-months-old Ottawa youngster, looks a bit dubious about the whole thing, but "Little Joe" made friends, brought child paper, string to play with.

CASE DISMISSED AGAINST BOYS ENTERING "LOCKED" PLAYGROUND — Parents and children at Hamilton, Ont., leave juvenile court after charges of trespass on a city playground "officially closed" were dismissed. Older boys in senior court had charges dismissed. Looking through chained gate at Hamilton playground is one of the boys who holds his football. Court said children could play in the grounds if they get the key.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Epitaph And The Sirens

EPITAPH JONES closed the door of the crazy old cabin with a resounding bang. He gave the house a malignant look before he turned and stamped noisily off the sagging porch. He squared his shoulders, set his gaudy cap at a jaunty angle, and swaggered off toward the not-far-distant town.

The path that Mr. Jones followed meandered irresolutely across a wild expanse of black and gray ash-heaps. Piles of tin cans glittered in a watery sunlight and grimy children and bony goats roamed about him. A chilling wind added nothing to the bleak landscape.

Though he looked a care-free figure, Epitaph's thoughts were acutely painful. "A weepin' woman. Always a-weepin'. Livin' in luck'y, a lovin' man, all the work she can do and still she weeps. No sooner she stops weepin' for one thing she begins to weep for somethin' else. Weep and cry—cry and weep, till I need me a ark, if I go on watchin' her weep much longer. I gotta find me some real sunshine somewhere, quick."

As though drawn by a magnet, his feet climbed a steep street, passed a pool hall, a fruit market, barber shop, a pawn shop. He turned through a white-washed gate into a neat yard where red tubs set on great gray stumps waited their summer cargo of flowers. Gaily painted rocks outlined the path that led to a bright blue door in a small brown house. Even the watery sunlight seemed brighter here.

Epitaph's knock was answered by a trim young woman who greeted him with a pleased laugh.

"Why, how-de-do, Mr. Jones, I was jist sayin' to myself I wisht that nice Mr. Jones would drop along and here you come promanadin' in. Do have this easy chair, Mr. Jones, and lemme take your hat."

Mr. Jones relaxed into an imitation leather chair and looked about approvingly. White curtains, yellow floors, brightly varnished furniture and scarlet geraniums in the window made a delightful picture to a man lately accustomed to a house suited to a Niobe.

And the entrancing being beside him in the rose-colored dress, lip-sticked, rouged and perfumed, whose charming laugh bubbled out at his lightest remark—surely, she was a veritable beam of sunshine in a cloudy world. No gloom. No tears. Just laughter and light and loveliness.

Said Epitaph Jones, patting the slim hand on the arm of his chair, "I jest came to inquire, Miss Cyrene, would you like me for a steady boarder? I find myself necessitated to make a change as my present habitation is most discommodious and depressive, likewise extremely damp. With you, I could dwell in one apex of glorious cheerfulness," added Mr. Jones, growing suddenly poetic.

Tearful spring had drifted into gracious summer and summer had faded into frost-fainted autumn when Epitaph again crossed the black and gray ash heaps where grimy children and bony goats still swarmed. He had the look of one who has suffered a grievous disillusionment.

Pausing before the crazy old cabin, he surveyed it fondly. Then he tipped across the sagging porch and slowly pushed open the protesting door.

Gloom and dinginess and a slightly musty odor met him. He spoke into the tomb-like silence.

"Hi, Sissey, you home today?" A tall thin woman in a dejected black dress appeared from an inner room. She saw Mr. Jones and began to laugh. Mr. Jones felt the universe reeling. Sissey laughing! It was as though he beheld the stars prancing about. He ventured a cautious foot inside the door.

"Why Sissey, I thought you was such a weepin' woman. You nix, Sissey?"

"No indeedy. Never felt better in my life. I jest told 'em, 'Epitaph, Sissey tilted merrily.

"How come you to change so, Sissey?"

Sissey chuckled. "Well, when you went off with that gigglin' Cyrene I took a thought to myself. If that no-account Cyrene can laugh another day, I jest thought I might as well do the same. Here Sissey gave a most convincing demonstration of her new accomplishment.

Epitaph shuddered at a pricking memory.

"But Sissey, I don't like laughin' women. Can't you weep jest a little, Sissey?"

"No, I'll weep no more. How come you stay at Cyrene's so long if you don't like laughin' women, Epitaph?"

"She wouldn't leave me go. But this mornin' I jest kind of mentioned that I sort of guessed I'd look you up once. And she got a—kind of laughin' fit and throwed a hammer at me. So I took it was kind of a hint and I jest natchly snuck out and left. Hammer hit me too." Epitaph gingerly touched a greenish lump on his left temple.

"Ain't that a shame. Cyrene didn't ought to act so. Now me, when I have laughin' fits I jest hurt 'till I'm sick."

Sissey caught up one that stood on a nearby table and advanced on her guest in a perfect gale of merriment.

Epitaph was not hero enough to face a woman with a flat-iron. Before that gleeful onslaught he fled, jerking the battered door shut with an energy that brought it broken knob away in his hand. He made one leap across the sagging porch and raced wildly past tin cans and screeching children toward the river. Sunset glory and peace lay over the river. Epitaph, struggling with a perverse row-boat, cast longing glances over his shoulder toward the island in the middle of the wide stream. He looked back at the shore he had just left and metaphorically he shook both fists at the crazy cabin and the neat brown house.

The above picture of the "Roaring Rapids" falls, located on the F. E. Shurtliff Ranch at Log Valley, 26 miles south of Riverhurst on the South Saskatchewan River, was taken by Fred T. Hill, editor of The Riverhurst Courier, in 1927. The falls have changed but little in two decades, it has still a good flow, and the falling water has the same old music. The falls are on a small spring creek which rises on the Shurtliff ranch (this land was formerly owned by Fred Richardson, an old-time rancher of that district), and the location of the spring is wooded, making ideal picnic grounds which are used by many throughout the summer. It is a pretty spot, and one that is deservedly popular. The ranch is in the river valley and much of it will be flooded if the proposed dam on the river materializes.

"No more women for me," vowed Mr. Jones grimly. "Never will I even speak to one again. Weepin' women! And laughin' women! WOMEN!!!"

The west was still bright when Epitaph beached his boat on the sandy shore. A crooked path led him to a small clearing in a haze of rank tobacco smoke. A scrawny hound equally relaxed, dozed beside him. As Epitaph Jones gazed on that peaceful scene a sense of relief, of security, swept over him. He spoke fervently.

"Safe at last. No more hammers. No more flat-irons. Jest sweet peace and restfulness."

The man on the blanket looked up. He spoke with a rare economy of effort.

"Hi, Ep'taph. Make y'elf 'home. Meet 'm Sis 'Vangline". He closed his eyes, exhausted.

Epitaph, in the very act of dropping onto the blanket, stared, appalled. The door of the ramshackle hut freed a radiant vision—ribbons and ruffles and black eyes and little scarlet slippers.

Epitaph shivered—half turned to flee. Then Romance took a firm grip on his shoulder and pushed him forward.

Said Mr. Jones most politely, "How-de-do, Miss 'Vangline, I jest dropped in to see would you like me for a steady boarder. I need me a change of climate, bed, and with you, I could dwell forever in one apex of glorious delightrousness," concluded Mr. Jones in an ecstatic burst of poetic fervor.

SELECTED RECIPES

CORN GRIDDLECAKES

Corn in the batter gives delicious flavor and makes cakes that fit many meals.

3 cups sifted flour

2 tablespoons baking powder

1 teaspoon salt

2 cups milk

2 eggs, well beaten

2 cups milk

2 cups cooked corn (cream style)

4 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, pepper, and sugar and sift together into bowl.

Combine eggs, milk, and corn and add to flour mixture. Add shortening. Then mix only enough to dampen flour.

Bake thoroughly on hot, greased griddle. Serve at once on warm plates with butter and syrup. Or serve with sausages, bacon, or vegetables for supper plates. Makes about 2 dozen.

APPLESAUCE BETTY

2½ cups unsweetened applesauce

2 cups whole wheat flakes

¾ cup melted butter

¾ cup light brown sugar

1½ teaspoons cinnamon

Arrange applesauce in a loaf pan or casserole in alternate layers with whole wheat flakes which have been mixed with sugar and butter, having top layer of the whole wheat flakes mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 20 minutes. Serve with cream if desired. Yield: 6 servings (4½x8½-inch dish).

Price Jumped Quickly On This Automobile

GRAND RAPIDS.—Police, tracing a 1941 model automobile that left the scene of an accident, said the car changed hands five times in as many days at an average increase of $100 per sale.

Police said the original owner received $300 for the car on a trade-in. The car passed through the hands of three dealers before the present owner bought it for $800.

Stamp Chosen In World-Wide Poll

OTTAWA.—Canada's commemorative stamp to be issued by the Bell, inventor of the telephone, has been chosen in a world-wide poll as one of the 12 best designs of all issues by all countries since 1899, it was learned here.

W. J. Turnbull, Deputy Postmaster-General, said he has received word from a Stanley Deaville, chief of the United Kingdom postage stamp division in London, that the large blue four-cent stamp placed fourth in the first balloting of its kind since before the war. A pictorial stamp of a European country gained first place, it was understood here.

The Bell stamp was issued on the inventor's birthday last March.

B.C. Does Not Need Immigrants

VICTORIA.—British Columbia is getting all the population it could handle from other parts of Canada without bringing in immigrants from the rest of the world, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb said here.

In an address to the annual meeting of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Anscomb, provincial leader, said the province "couldn't absorb any outside population without disturbing provincial economy."

Since 1940, the coalition government minister stated, British Columbia had absorbed 230,000 persons from other parts of the dominion.

The name sugar applies to more than 100 substances, such as sucrose, glucose, fructose, lactose, maltose and others.

Canada's Combat Force To Have Wings

Plan To Train And Equip Ground Forces For Swift Movement By Air

OTTAWA.—The Canadian army's active force is swinging along now in its peacetime development, aimed at creating a combat-force-with wings with all units and their equipment completely transportable by air.

The last war saw the army emerge as a fast, mechanized fighting force but now they are going to give it a mobility it never has had in its history.

It is a radical plan to train and equip the ground force infantry, armor and services for swift movement by air to practically any point in the dominion. There is no other country in the world which has laid down plans to make its entire combat force air transportable by glider, troop-carrying planes and giant weapon and equipment transporters.

Paratroops enter into these calculations, but the emphasis is on creating a closely-knit fighting force that can be lifted by air to any danger point and landed with all its equipment rather than dropped by parachute with limited resources.

In this airborne development, Canada has an aware eye to the problems of northern and Arctic defence and the imperative need for speed in concentrating her scattered units at danger points if they threaten in any part of the dominion.

The work on this long-range plan has begun at the joint air school at Rivers, Man., where the first group of captains and lieutenants from active service units have just completed their training in airborne work, in co-operation with the R.C.A.F.

Other groups of officers and non-commissioned officers will follow this first class to Rivers and all return to their units to train their platoons and companies in the new work.

A crack special air service company at Rivers—mainly composed of paratroops—trains these active service members. This is the company from which paratroops have been drawn for dramatic Arctic rescue work.

The emphasis in the creation of Canada's new army is on this airborne feature. Within a matter of a few years, it is expected that the three regular infantry battalions, the two armored regiments and the services forming the brigade group will be able to be moved by air as easily as they now are moved by truck or train.

EDITORS ARE USUALLY BLAMED NOT PRAISED

A story is told in Minnesota that an editor of a paper had to be carried home on a stretcher as the result of having received a kind word because of something he had printed. The shock seemingly unnerved him. Just as he reached his home, someone gave him a tongue lashing about another item he had printed. The editor got up and went back to work.

EXPENSIVE OILS

Some fine oils which tanners use in lubricating sole leathers will increase its water-resistance and flexibility, costs more but better.

PLAYS COWBOY

—For the last time before he is flown to Denver, Col., for another critical operation, Forrest "Nubbins" Hoffman, 6, Cheyenne, Wyo., plays cowboy on his steel "broncho." "Nubbins" attracted attention and sympathy three years ago when he celebrated what was expected to be his last Christmas. A miracle of surgery saved him. Now, stunted by a rare kidney disease, "Nubbins" will again meet the same surgeon who thinks there's a probable "1000-to-1" chance that the operation will make it possible for him to grow normally.

LONG STOCKINGS

While medical authorities generally approve bare knees for children, they warn parents that the little ones should be dressed in long stockings in damp weather. Dampness favours chill and the doctors point out that it is bad for the children to sit around classrooms with chilled legs. Also, they say, children should be encouraged to wear rubbers in wet weather, for health's sake.

Sale of poppies in Blairmore will again be handled by the ladies of the I.O.D.E., and they expect to be on the job next week end. Wear a poppy on Remembrance Day.

THE FOUR "R'S"

Health authorities say that "Right Living" should be added to reading 'riting and 'rithmetic, to make the traditional three R's at least four. Food habits, for instance, are formed in childhood so caring for health is an essential subject for study by youngsters.

It is suggested that the science of nutrition, as well as the other sound principles of hygiene, should be taught in childhood, if those growing up are to be given the best chances for healthful living.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

The other day I had an interesting conversation with a piano tuner who was working in my home.

Although I had always thought his profession a rather monotonous one, I was soon to change my mind. For he talked so engagingly about his work, the construction of the instrument and other related matters, that I found myself becoming genuinely interested.

But what fascinated me most was his great enthusiasm for his work.

This attitude towards one's job is greatly to be desired. Enthusiasm has a magic, warming effect on all of us. And in a worker—he be salesman or carpenter, butcher or book-keeper—it wins admiration and co-operation from employers, customers and all others with whom he comes in contact.

So, especially to younger men, I would say: Regardless of whatever headaches and disappointments your work may bring, keep on being enthusiastic!

Millions of owners and beneficiaries of life insurance policies enthusiastically endorse this form of investment for security. Agents of the life insurance companies in Canada, too, are enthusiastic about their work because it renders a valuable service.

CHEVROLET TRUCKS

Shortly after the war concluded, and because it was of timely importance, we—your General Motors dealer—issued a statement outlining our business policy.

In the interests of our customers and the community as a whole, we have decided that this policy should now be reaffirmed.

It will be our continuing purpose, therefore, in all our dealings with you to adhere to the following principles:

- ★ We will abide firmly by delivered prices on all New Cars and Trucks, as recommended by the manufacturer.
- ★ We will do our best, having the responsibility of being the sole distributor in this area of new General Motors Passenger Cars and Trucks, to allocate them as fairly as possible with proper regard for orders placed with us and dependent upon the availability of models.
- ★ We will ask only reasonable prices for all Used Cars and Trucks—based on an equitable resale valuation.
- ★ We will make allowances based on proper appraisal and a fair valuation to purchasers who have cars or trucks to trade.

- ★ We will give purchasers the benefit of those accessories which are available, but delivery of a new car or truck will not be conditional upon the acceptance of accessories other than those desired.
- ★ We will charge only the established prices for parts and accessories, and not more than equitable prices for all types of services. When requested we will gladly provide the customer with advance estimates.
- ★ We will, at all times, strive to be considerate of our customers' needs—and to serve with efficiency, satisfaction and courtesy.
